Passage of Rail Legislation May Avert Walkout

Congress Expected To Pass Measure Before Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — High government sources expressed confidence today that Congress will whip out legislation in time to avert a nationwide rail strike threatened for one minute after midnight.

Racing the clock, the House takes up legislation ground out Tuesday night by the Senate even as carriers and unions prepared for the possibility of a massive walkout.

The measure would force arbitration to settle the two big issues in the work rules dispute: The elimination of 32,000 firemen's jobs and how many men are needed to run a train.

Under the Senate measure, there would be 180 days for arbitration negotiations before a strike could ensue if the lesser issues were still unsettled. Further congressional action might be requested then.

House leaders hoped to pass the measure and speed it to President Kennedy for signing before the strike deadline.

With the walkout threat just around the bend, the Senate inched out the throttle, beat down some other proposals and pushed through the emergency measure which is similar to one that had been drafted by the House Commerce Committee.

This is expected to simplify matters, for leaders plan to have the House take up the Senate bill as a substitute for its own version.

That way the House could pass the measure and send it straight to the White House, rather than returning it to the Senate for final action.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee expressed belief the House can act on the measure in time to block the strike which would tie up 195 railroads, practically

Thousands Arrive at Capital For Massive Demonstration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands streamed into the capital today for what was expected to be one of the most massive demonstrations in the city's history—the civil rights march on Washington.

They came in planes, trains, buses, cars and on foot. One even scooted into town on roller skates after a trip of more than 700 miles from Chicago.

Estimates on the expected turnout ranged from 100,000 to 250,000. Ahead lay a day planned full of song, solemnity and dramatization of the demonstrators' plea that "jobs and freedom are needed now" for Negroes.

That dramatization will come when the thousands fill the grounds of the Washington Monument and then march together to the Lincoln Memorial.

Leaders of the march also were to meet with leaders of Congress on Capitol Hill before the march and then with President Kennedy at the White House after the demonstration.

Among the early arrivals was a Chicago truck driver, Ledger Smith, tootsore and weary after roller skating from Chicago. He said he left home 11 days ago and skated about 70 miles a day.

Due during the morning were 17 members of the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality who left New York about 11 days ago.

About 35 singing white and Negro demonstrators paraded into the early morning hours in front of the Justice Department building. They were protesting alleged police brutality and other alleged civil rights violations in Georgia and Mississippi.

After Dawn, the demonstrators were to start gathering at the soaring obelisk that will mark the start of the march to the Lincoln Memorial nine blocks away.

Police said they made preparations for 100,000 or so marchers, although some civil rights leaders say as many as 250,000 may show up before the day is done. Deputy Chief of Police Howard V. Covell said no other Washington

$270,000 for Village Sewage Plant Allotted

$200,000 Allocated For Hospital Unit At County Home

Authorization of a $270,000 federal grant for a new sewage plant at Columbiana and a $200,000 grant for a 40-bed addition to the hospital at the Columbiana County Home hospital was announced today.

The announcement, made by Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th district congressman, through his district secretary, Don R. Gosney of Columbiana, explained the funds for the sewage plant came from the accelerated public works program of the federal government.

Through Hill—Burton Act The funds for the hospital addition at the county home are part of the grants made available to hospital projects through the Hill-Burton Act.

The grants are 50 per cent of the estimated cost of the projects.

The new plant at Columbiana will replace the present 31-year-old facility which the Ohio Health Department said was inadequate to process the village's increased waste materials.

The structure will be erected adjacent to the present plant in the western part of the village.

Columbiana Village Council last May passed an ordinance increasing the sewer rates to provide the village's share of funds for construction of the $540,000 plant.

The new schedule, effective this year, increased the minimum payment from $3 to $5 and also hiked other rates.

Village Council last January employed the firm of Burgess & Nipple of Columbus, Consulting Engineers, to file formal application for federal funds to assist in construction of the proposed active sludge-type sewage treatment plant.

Dedication Set Of River-Lake Road Section

Gov. James A. Rhodes has accepted an invitation to participate in a ceremony Sept. 17 at Ashtabula marking dedication of the first northern stage of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway.

Word of the governor's acceptance was received Tuesday by A. P. Morris, vice president of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association.

P. E. Masheter, State Highway Department director, also has been invited to the dedication, but has not confirmed that he will attend.

Gov. Rhodes will cut a ribbon officially dedicating the highway in a morning program. Then he will speak briefly. A luncheon will follow at the Swallows Restaurant at which he will also speak.

Officials will be invited from each of the four counties through which the lake-river road will be built — Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Ashtabula.

In the case of Columbiana County, the invitations will be given to Commissioners Walter A. Hunston, Galen Greenstein and James Boyd, Engineer Charles O. Snyder and State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel.

State officials and visitors from throughout the four-county area attended a ceremony in East Liverpool late last fall that marked completion of the first southern stage of the highway.

The highway has been designated officially as State Route 11, but is known more commonly as the lake-river highway.

The four-county association of civic leaders was formed several years ago to encourage construction. As is the state's policies in such lengthy projects, it is being built periodically in stages. One recent estimate was that 10 years would be required for overall completion.

25 Miners Feared Dead In Utah Blast

MOAB, Utah (AP) — Rescuers attempting to reach 25 men entombed deep underground by an explosion in a potash mine were halted temporarily early today by a jumble of damaged equipment.

There was little hope the men would be found alive. Hampering rescue efforts was a tangled mass of broken communication, electrical and air lines, damaged ventilation equipment and other debris four yards from the bottom of the 2,712-foot shaft.

The men are scattered out somewhere beyond and below that in one of two lateral tunnels extending from the base of the main shaft.

The mine near this southeastern Utah community, is one of the largest and deepest ever sunk in North America. It goes straight down, through almost solid rock, the distance of nearly 10 football fields.

Frank Tippie, head of the potash division of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., operator of the mine, said

Louis Bova, 54, Still Trapped

Search For Third Miner Continues

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers, spurred by their success in raising Henry Throne, 28, and David Fellin, 58, from a coal mine cave in, drove a 12-inch shaft about 305 feet through earth, rock and coal into a void today, searching for Louis Bova, 54, missing since Aug. 13 in the same mishap.

Meanwhile drilling of two other probes was underway. Mine officials said the drill on the 65-on rig broke through into some kind of chamber about 6:15 a.m.

The officials said they would be unable to say if it was successful in reaching Bova until the drill pipe was removed and microphones and possibly a camera could be lowered, in a matter of hours. The drill started at 5:45 a.m. Tuesday, but drilling was halted by a six-hour breakdown.

Officials said they hit the void at the spot Fellin told them to drill. Fellin had also directed the miners where to sink a successful 18-inch escape shaft to him and Throne.

A three-inch probe reached 132 feet at 7 a.m., said officials. A six-inch shaft, started early today, hit 88 feet by 7 a.m.

Meanwhile mine officials said they plan to close the mine for safety reasons.

The six-inch shaft is similar to the one which reached Fellin and Throne Aug. 18 and served them as a life line until they were pulled to safety before a cheering throng Tuesday morning. Bova has had no food since the day of the cave-in, but may have some water from seepage.

Fellin reported he made contact with Bova Aug. 20, but some officials questioned the contact. No direct communications were ever established with Bova.

Fellin and Throne are convinced their buddy is alive. Fellin is so

Trapped Miners Suffered Pain, Hunger, Thirst

By HENRY THRONE

As told to The Associated Press

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — There were times when we saw people that weren't there and lights that weren't there and doors that weren't there.

Imagine seeing a door like a regular house door down in the bottom of a mine.

There was a time we heard rain and it really was rain coming down the drainage pipes and we thought the water would back up and flood the mine and drown us.

And while it was raining, I got mad—I must've been off my rocker a little—and I yelled at Davey, "Davey, I'm going home. I'm going alone if you don't want to come."

But, of course, I wasn't going anywhere. Not then. We were still more than 300 feet down. We still had a week to go before we could stand and walk again, not just sit and crawl, before we could breathe clear air again and see real light again.

Got Mixed Up But maybe I better start at the beginning. That's the only way I can get it clear in my own mind. So much got so mixed up later we couldn't tell day from the night or Monday from Sunday.

That first day, that Tuesday, Aug. 13, I went to work about 7:15 in the morning. It was a nice sunny day. I had no special thoughts, no hunches about something bad. It was just an ordinary working day.

We—that's David Fellin, Louis Bova and me—went down in the hole about 7:30 and by 8 we had filled the first buggy (a small wagon carrying coal to the surface). We were on the bottom of the mine, in a tunnel, where the sump water collects. Davey and me were on the right side of the shaft and Louis was on the left, separated by the buggy tracks.

Big Rumble Started Louis rapped three times for the buggy to go up and it went up and dumped the coal. Coming down, it got only half way down.

That's when the big rumble started. And all hell broke loose. The timbers on the wall next to us caved in and the timbers on the ceiling above us came down. We just managed to step aside in time as the big chunks of wood and coal and stone fell wildly around us.

We could see Louis on the other side until the power line to our work lights broke. For the next couple of hours we could see a little around us with the lights on our helmets. But then they burned out. Our matches wouldn't burn down there. That was the end of light for the next 5½ days.

In that first hour and a half, we just sat there against the wall while the debris piled higher before us in the tunnel. The rumbling from the cave-in lasted that long. There were others later.

I holed for Louis but there was no answer. After a while we started crawling over the debris. All our tools—the picks, the bars, the shovels and our lunch pails—were lost under the pile except for a mason hammer and a hatchet. The hammer broke soon afterward. All we had was a hatchet to cut our way over the junk.

We started crawling around in the dark looking for a way out.

We were lost. But we kept crawling around like that for almost six days looking for a way out.

To keep warm, I'd sit with my legs spread and Davey would sit between my legs with his back to me and I'd breathe on his back and neck. All the time we're rocking back and forth, also to keep warm. Then Davey would switch and do the same for me. We'd do this for 5 or 10 minutes at a time. Then we'd stop but only for five minutes, say, because then we'd be cold again. Most times it felt like about 30 degrees above zero.

Sleep Face to Face

To keep warm, we'd sleep face to face with our arms around each other. We'd sleep maybe a half hour and then the cold would wake us and we'd start rocking again to get some circulation.

I'd sleep. I'd wake up. And I'd see all kinds of lights and the actual figures of people. They now tell me these were hallucinations but the crazy thing is that Davey would see these things the same time I did.

The lights and the figures always were in front of us but the more we crawled toward them the further away they got. For example, I saw this man, or the dark shape of a man with a light on his helmet. I yelled, "Show me some light over here! Over here!"

Davey saw him too, but the shape of the man got smaller and smaller as we crawled toward him and then he was gone altogether.

Fifth Day Worst

The fifth day was the worst. I think that was the closest we came to death. That's when it started raining and we could hear it coming down the drainage pipes and we thought we'd be drowned. Thank God it rained only about 20 minutes.

But in that time I started running around wild. That's when I

The Old Days

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Let's take a look back along the way.

When the world is too much with us, the best escape is to recall a time when things were different.

Your memory is still hitting on all eight cylinders if you can remember when—

Movie actresses were expected to have class and stature—like Clare K'ball Young.

Shirley Temple's dimples had been seen by more people than the Grand Canyon.

People said Enrico Caruso had a voice so powerful that when he sang in a small room it would break the windows.

It was part of the act in a Chinese restaurant for the waiters to pretend they couldn't understand English well. That kind of tent the place a shuddery sense of mystery.

The only people who ate pizza pies were those just over from the old country.

Rin-Tin-Tin earned more take-home pay than Lassie.

The greatest test of a middle-aged man's athletic ability was having to climb into the upper berth of a Pullman car.

You could always achieve a sound social position in the community by playing a good game of checkers.

No husband had to bother about keeping his wife's cigarettes lit—as good women didn't smoke in public.

No woman needed more than $5 to go to the grocery store, because who could carry home that much worth of groceries?

The common man was in favor of high income taxes because he felt only the rich would ever have to pay them.

Only cowboys wore high heels. The people in comic strips were always slipping on banana peels, or being hit by flying bricks—but they never seemed to have any emotional problems.

It cost less to spend a full year in college than it now takes to send a small, squirmy child to camp for a month in the summer.

Many high school seniors could write in Latin an essay containing fewer misspelled words than one written in English by a modern student today.

If a girl had a tan you knew she was from the country. City girls prided themselves on their milk-white complexions.

People in most small towns never locked the front door unless they were going on a long trip.

You could impress the average gathering by whipping out a snapshot of yourself taken on top of Pike's Peak. That let them know you were someone who'd really been around.

You didn't have to land on the moon to become a hero. All you had to do was stop a runaway horse single-handed.

Dairy Scientists Retire

Two of Ohio's veteran dairy scientists have retired. They are Dr. Fordyce Ely, chairman of the department of dairy science at Ohio State University and the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station; and Charles L. Blackman, dairy specialist of the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service.

Both men have been active in dairy science work for more than 30 years.

Blackman's successor as Extension dairy specialist is Dr. Harry L. Barr, a Belmont County native and an Ohio State University graduate. Dr. Barr accepted a position on the resident teaching staff at Ohio State shortly after receiving his bachelor's degree in 1954. He earned his master's degree in 1955 and his PhD. in 1960. During the eight years he served on the teaching staff, he taught an introductory course in dairy science and courses in physiology of reproduction and animal breeding.

A successor to Dr. Ely has not yet been named. Dr. L. O. Gilmore, associate chairman of the department of dairy science at the Experiment Station in Wooster, is acting department chairman at both Columbus and Wooster.

Ration For Dairy Cows

Dairy cows need a ration which is high in dry matter digestibility.

Digestibility has to do with the amount of nutrients absorbed from feed by the cow. Early cut, leafy alfalfa hay will have a dry matter digestibility well above 65 per cent, which is the lower limit for efficient milk production.

Cows naturally have big rumens to handle bulk rations, but even so, only a given amount of feed can be handled through the digestive tract. When digestibility of a ration such as poor hay is low, cows can't handle enough to produce at their maximum potential. For example, a 1,400 pound cow with the ability to produce 75 pounds of milk daily when put on a 50 per cent digestible ration would have to be able to expand the rumen to more than twice its natural size to accommodate enough feed to produce the maximum. In research at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, cows on rations of low digestibility actually produce less than half the milk of which they were capable.

Dairy Science Researcher Russell Conrad says that the total ration declined from 67 per cent digestibility to 56 per cent in one test, the cows on test could absorb only half the digestible nutrients needed. Milk production was reduced from an average of 45 pounds per day to 19 pounds. By the time cows had used the nutrients needed for body maintenance, there were few left for milk production.

Conrad says this bears out the need for early cut hay. Six times as much grain, 18 pounds daily, was needed to maintain the level of digestibility for top production when hay was cut June 28 as compared to hay cut May 17.

Farm-Orama Dates Changed

Dates for the annual tri-state Farm-Orama exposition to be held at New Knoxville have been changed from Sept. 12-13-14 to Oct. 3-4-5.

The change also will affect the state plowing contest and the national sheep dog trials, to be held in connection with the exposition. The two contests now will be held Oct. 4 and 5.

Perry E. Clark, president of Farm-Orama, said the change is necessary because corn is not dry enough for picking on the original dates. He said late rains, along with dry weather earlier in the season, had delayed maturity of corn.

Joins Cattle Assn

Lowell W. Baker of Salem was one of 69 Ohio dairymen to be admitted to the Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America recently.

Others from the Salem area include J. Robert Barnett of Beloit and Fred E. Pieren and Roy W. Watson of Homeworth.

Farm Science Review

More than 100 exhibitors, including most of the major farm equipment manufacturers in the Midwest, will display their products at the Ohio State Farm Science Review Sept. 25, 26, and 27.

"There will be machinery, equipment, and supplies for just about every kind of farming in Ohio," says Dale Friday, Review manager. Possible exceptions, he notes, are highly specialized farming enterprises.

The exhibits will cover a 30-acre area near the center of the 450-acre Review site, which is adjacent to Don Scott field in Northwest Franklin County. In this area farmers may see tractors and other farm implements, building materials, farm chemicals, seeds, livestock equipment and fertilizers.

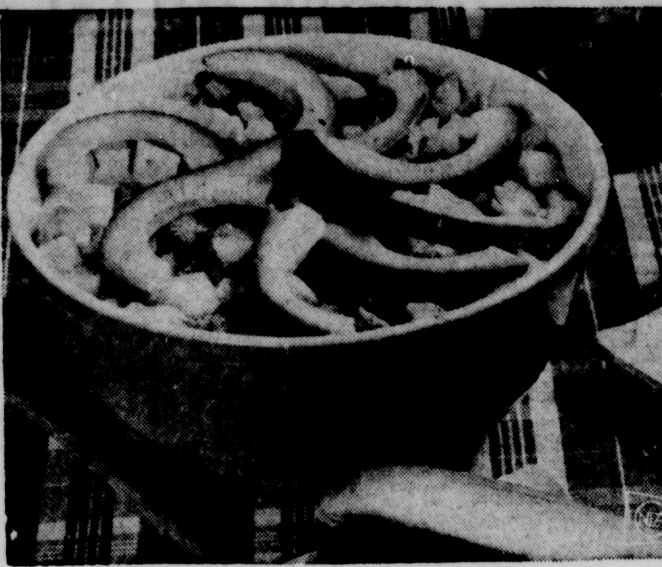

In nearby fields, more than 100 pieces of equipment will be in operation.

Avocado Potato Salad

From California, Mrs. D. F. of El Centro writes that her combination salad of potatoes and avocado is always popular at church suppers. We tried it last night at home. How we know why it is popular.

The extra flavors of crisp bacon, cucumber, pimento, onion and celery spark the combination of avocado and potatoes. But why wait for Mrs. D. F.'s church supper? How about tonight? Serve with cold meats, heated rolls. A cup of hot clear soup might be welcome as the first course.

AVOCADO POTATO SALAD

(6 to 8 servings)

4 slices crisp bacon, crumbled, 1 cup sliced celery (and a few minced leaves) 1/4 cup chopped onion, 3 cups cubed cooked potatoes, 1 can (2 oz.) sliced pimento, 1/2 cup chopped cucumber, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 to 3 teaspoons vinegar, 1 California avocado, 1/2 cup Italian or French dressing.

Combine all ingredients except avocado and dressing. Cut avocado lengthwise into halves; remove seed and skin. Slice enough avocado for garnish; dip into dressing, then drain. Cube remaining avocado; add to salad with remaining dressing. Toss lightly. Garnish with avocado slices. Chill and serve.

Justifiable Cut In Foreign Aid

The House Republican offensive that chopped more than $1 billion from President Kennedy's foreign aid request deserves a round of applause from anyone who shares concern over the soundness of the American dollar.

The continued loss of U.S. gold reserves, the result of an excess of spending over receipts in international transactions, has become a profound economic problem. And the billions this country is doling out in foreign aid is one of the chief contributors to the problem.

While President Kennedy is well aware of the balance of payments deficit, he has rejected the theory that cutbacks in foreign aid spending will help ease the problem. It is difficult to follow his thinking.

PERHAPS if the President brushed up on his history he would recall that before the U.S. got into the whopping big foreign aid business, the American dollar was unquestionably sound.

During the early post-war years, the U.S. exported about twice as much as it imported. Accounts were balanced largely by American loans and grants and by liquidation of gold and dollar assets held in this country by foreigners.

Accumulation of U.S. gold hit its high-water mark in 1949 when American reserves totaled $24.6 billion. Then the foreign aid program began to grow and the U.S. gold influx reached a vanishing point in 1950. A reverse flow gained headway as foreign production and foreign exports expanded.

From 1949 through 1961, U.S. spending for foreign aid, imports and overseas production exceeded by $24 billion receipts from foreign countries. Of that amount, foreigners converted $8 billion into gold.

In the span of 13 years, U.S. Gold reserves have shrunk by $7 billion and foreign claims on the U.S. have increased $27.1 billion. And the once strong American dollar is frighteningly vulnerable.

TO BE SURE, pruning the foreign aid appropriation is only one way to attack the balance of payments problem.

But in view of a projected federal deficit of $9 billion this fiscal year and a proposed tax cut which would be bound to increase the deficit, at least temporarily, the foreign aid slash is well justified.

In fact, we wonder if there isn't room for further cutting.

Safeguard for Samaritans

The perplexing question of whether a doctor should stop at the scene of a disaster to render medical assistance has been resolved in New Jersey, which has joined some 20 other states in enacting a "good samaritan" law.

The New Jersey law shields medical practitioners — doctors, nurses, dentists, osteopaths—from civil suits arising from acts of mercy performed without remuneration.

Come Sept. 16, Ohio will go New Jersey one better. That's the effective date of a law enacted by the 15th General Assembly designed to afford protection from liability to anyone—not just a medical practitioner law enacted by the 15th General Assembly—who renders emergency assistance outside of a hospital or doctor's office.

DOCTORS, especially, need such protection. Every time a physician renders emergency medical care at the scene of an auto crash, for instance, he puts his practice in jeopardy because he can be sued if the victim dies or is maimed.

Why any family would react so coldly to an act of mercy defies explanation, but it happens. In fact, it happens with such frequency that doctors have become increasingly hesitant about volunteering their services and even are being advised by counsel and insurance companies to keep moving when they come upon a wreck.

The same liability always has extended to private citizens outside the medical profession, even though they are less likely to be sued.

The Ohio law will clear the way for anyone to be a good samaritan in time of need without fear of the consequences.

BUT ABSOLUTION from civil suit does not give the private citizen license to "play doctor" at the scene of a mishap. The rule still should be to do what's necessary and nothing more—until medical help arrives.

Meanwhile, it wouldn't hurt to rush up samaritans.

What Next?

History was made and tradition shattered in Cleveland the other day.

An important new highway was opened—a long-awaited link vital to heavy traffic. And what happened?

Was the mayor on hand with unsheathed scissors to snip a ribbon? He was not.

Did the governor herald another forward step in the march of progress? He did not, for the simple reason he was nowhere around.

Well, what did happen?

A workman moved aside a wooden barricade and the traffic started rolling.

What will they think of next?

Gimmick for Golden Agers?

Hot off the press is the New Frontier's home exercise book designed to strengthen the circulatory system and improve muscle tone of the "elderly, the inactive, the overweight" and the just plain lazy.

None of the exercises requires any special equipment and can be performed in the house in 15-20 minutes a day. They are presented on a progressive basis so that even the aforementioned elderly, inactive and overweight can perform them, a spokesman for the President's Council on Physical Fitness, reports.

C. B. (Bud) Wilkinson, head football coach at the University of Oklahoma, is the President's consultant on the program. The booklet is called "Adult Physical Fitness—A Program for Men and Women."

As a spokesman for the council put it: "The exercises are not new. Trying to get people to do them is new."

The pamphlet is distributed by the Government Printing Office and sells for 35 cents a copy.

Unless this phase of the federal physical fitness program enjoys greater and longer success than the 50-mile hike fiasco, the council is only wasting its time and $15,000 of the taxpayers' money has gone down the gimmick drain for Golden Agers.

Farmers have started standing along the road selling things you thought you were going to grow in your garden.

JFK's Attack on GOP Over Aid Bill-Advised

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy has made serious mistakes in tactics while trying to get the foreign aid bill through Congress. He now has

en to a hastily

conference, are open to dispute on factual grounds. He said:

"The most disturbing aspect of today's house action is that, for the first time since the end of World War II, this program experienced a shocking and thoughtless partisan attack by the Republican leadership on a program which both parties have consistently supported as being vital to our national security."

Those lines give the impression that the Republican leaders voted against the whole foreign-aid program. They did not do so. The four Republican leaders in the House, together with 48 other Republican members, actually joined with 172 Democrats the same day to approve the foreign aid bill and send it to the Senate.

Without those 52 Republican votes, even the reduced foreign aid authorization would have failed. This wasn't noted in the President's blast at the Republicans.

Later on in the same statement, the President supplemented his attack on the Republican leadership with a criticism of the Republican members of the house as a whole. He said:

"In the key vote on foreign assistance today, only nine per cent of the Republican members of the House supported this program which has hitherto commanded bipartisan support, and I reiterate again, time and again, this program had bipartisan support in the years of the '50s. The danger is just as great today. I see no reason why the program and its bipartisan support should be destroyed."

MR. KENNEDY forgot that, as a member of the House and then of the Senate in the 1950s, he, too, voted for cuts in the foreign aid programs proposed by Presidents Truman and Eisenhower.

It is true, moreover, that bipartisan support and the program itself are really in danger today of being destroyed?

The bill on final passage in the House called for $3.5 billion. This still is a large sum, and the President himself had done some cutting from his original request for $4.9 billion.

He revised the figure down to $4.5 billion when a commission he had appointed advised that the amount could be cut.

Later, further cuts were made by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, bringing the total down to $4.1 billion.

Was a cut of less than 15 per cent of that sum—which occurred in what the President calls a "key vote"—the same thing as destroying the whole foreign aid program?

If the Republicans were guilty of partisanship when they voted with a bloc of 66 Democrats to reduce the amount from $4.1 to $3.5 billion, how shall the 66 members of the President's own party be classified? Are they, too, to be called "partisan"?

If those 66 Democrats, which included the Democratic chairman of three committees of the House—the Ways and Means, the Appropriations and Rules, respectively—are added to the 172 Democrats who already favored the amount that the foreign affairs committee recommended, this could have provided a sufficient majority to pass the measure in the form the White House desired.

Aren't these three committee chairmen Democratic leaders?

IT'S HARDLY logical to issue an intemperate statement attacking the Republicans and their leaders when there were enough Democrats and their leaders in the House who didn't follow the President but who could have assured passage of the bill he wanted.

As for the handling of the Republicans, the President has blundered. Either he has been too busy to watch the situation carefully himself, or he has been badly advised.

For one thing, he never has invited the Republican leaders to conferences at the White House on the foreign aid program. President Eisenhower used to invite the Democratic leaders for breakfast regularly to talk things over.

Also, it happens that foreign aid is unpopular today in the country generally and has been for some time.

The appropriations in recent years have been passed with difficulty, too, because in reality the American people have grown tired of what, in some instances, is regarded as international blackmail and extortion.

Apart from the troubles that the foreign aid program runs into—especially with so many interests at home pressing for bigger appropriations out of an already unbalanced budget—it's important for a president of the United States to steer a careful course himself in congressional affairs if he expects bipartisan support.

IN THIS connection, the comment of Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., becomes pertinent. He called attention to the fact that former Rep. Walter Judd, R-Minn., was for years the most articulate and persuasive spokesman for foreign aid in the House and had won over to his side many of his fellow Republicans. Mr. Glenn added:

"Then last year, Kennedy went up and purged him. On the very day we were debating the foreign aid bill, and Judd was there arguing for it, Kennedy was in his district speaking against him. Judd wasn't here today, either. That was the nub of Kennedy's defeat."

The President's trouble is that sometimes he himself is too partisan—or, to put it another way, he isn't non-partisan enough.

Kennedy Serves Warning

By VICTOR RIESEL

President Kennedy bitterly and angrily has told several national labor chiefs to prevail on some of their colleagues to stop putting

to cease using the Chief executive as though he were a pawn.

White House insiders, exasperated by the rail crisis, believe that the office of the presidency has lost considerable prestige on the domestic front this last year because of a series of personal rebuffs to John Kennedy by strike leaders or those threatening to call crippling strikes.

Latest of the labor chiefs to embitter the President, the White House staff, the Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz and others in the inner circle, is the little-known, guitar-playing almost-unmovable president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

He is Charles Luna, originally of Austin, Tex. His brotherhood represents almost half the operating railroad workers involved in the four-year rail conflict.

He began his national career in the brotherhood back in 1946 when he came on the union's convention scene in Miami Beach dressed in cowboy clothes and strumming a guitar. He serenaded many of the delegates during the eight-week gathering. When it was over he was a vice president.

IN 1960 he became the brotherhood's assistant president and succeeded W. P. Kennedy when the latter resigned—but only to fill out the rest of the term.

Now Luna must stand for election for a full term at the next convention in Miami Beach in '64. If he wins he will have a full four-year term of his own—and probably stay for life. But he must win first.

It was the unknown Luna who has been the toughest to deal with during the crisis. There was, for example, the moment early in July when President Kennedy, fearing a cataclysmic rail paralysis, had a long talk with Willard Wirtz. They decided something dramatic must be done.

Wirtz suggested offering the brotherhoods a chance to have Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg settle the dispute. The justice is a great advocate of voluntary arbitration.

LITTLE LIZ

A fool and his money do about as well as the average person today.

Mr. Kennedy personally lifted the phone and called Mr. Goldberg in the Virgin Islands. The justice listened, asked what Willard Wirtz thought, and was assured that the labor secretary certainly would not resent Mr. Goldberg's coming into the dispute.

The justice said he wanted to think about it. Later he agreed and flew back to the U.S. mainland.

THE NEXT MORNING the leaders of the five on-train unions were in the White House. They were surprised by the news. They had not been consulted. However they could not have gotten fairer treatment than the justice would have given them.

The man who led the revolt against President Kennedy was Charles Luna—though the President had already made the public announcement. President Kennedy was deeply insulted.

Weeks of new infighting followed. Finally leaders of the firemen, engineers and conductors began indicating they were ready for some sort of arbitration to avoid a national strike on some of the Class A railroads.

Then in mid-August came the day when Willard Wirtz was able to put enough on paper to get agreement on arbitration from all sides—or so it seemed that dreadfully wearing hour.

Wirtz's documents had blank spaces which were to be filled in by the railroad and union negotiators with the language each side wanted, spelling out certain details.

After four long years, it would have been over. Both sides were to return to the White House at 11 o'clock the next morning. At 9 a.m. Willard Wirtz telephoned the railroad company representatives. He told them it was useless.

CHARLES LUNA had again protested. No one had been able to do anything with him. Not even AFL CIO president, George Meany, who also thought the crisis was over.

With Luna in the lead, the other unions then came in with new arguments.

Wirtz, sleepless, fatigued, and sharply disappointed, had to inform the President of the new upheaval. He also told the rail executives he was so outraged and disgusted by what had happened, he would not even bring the new demands to the table.

All along, Luna's position was that the unions could get more with a strike than from arbitration.

This is the story of other strikes—such as the December one billion dollar East Coast dockworkers' stoppage which the President had tried to avert with a personal phone call to the longshoremen's leader—only to be rebuffed.

So the President has sent word he no longer wants to be put on 'the spot. Congress does not want to be put on the same spot.

The word is that if there is another tough national labor crisis, there will be tougher legislation. We'll see.

History Today

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I read recently where our state crowned a 10-year-old girl "Little Miss Beautiful." She will be sent to Miami to compete in the Little Miss Universe contest. Two youngsters and three mothers broke down and wept from disappointment when the winner was announced.

The whole thing is nauseating. How can we abide a society that puts a premium on sex appeal, beauty and poise for 10-year-olds? How can we allow little girls to get the idea that the worth is measured by how they look strutting around in a bathing suit?

Please keep hammering away on the importance of letting children BE children instead of rushing them into an adult world with a lot of false standards. It could be your major contribution to a mixed-up world.—AKRON, B. J.

Dear B. J.: Thank you for giving me another opportunity to zero in on one of my favorite targets. It's not only nauseating, it's pathetic that parents would exploit 10-year-olds by putting them in a beauty contest. What these parents don't understand is that one of the principal incentives for achievement is destroyed when such phony values are emphasized. Why DO anything when you can get all that attention by just being beautiful? It's just too pitiful for words.

Suspicion Unfounded

Dear Ann: When my husband and I were married 15 years ago it was a double-ring ceremony. He wore his wedding ring constantly until about a year ago and then he began to leave the ring at home in the bureau drawer.

Last night I decided to ask him about this. He told me his foreman at the plant told him he should not wear any jewelry whatever on the job because it could cause an accident. Some of the men have lost fingers when their rings got caught on the machines.

I accepted this explanation and then suggested he carry the ring in his pocket to remind him that he is married. He said this was a nutty idea and he refuses to do it. Now I wonder if perhaps he is seeing someone who thinks he is single.

We have five children and he's home every night. I've never had any reason to suspect him before now. What do you think?—UNEASY WIFE.

Dear Uneasy: A father of five children doesn't need to carry his wedding ring in his pocket to remind himself that he is married. The grocery and shoe bills are reminder enough. Stop nagging the guy and putting ideas in his head. A man who is at home every night is not likely to be cheating.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Kathleen Barbara Plues, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Henry Plues of Country Club Drive, became the bride of John Francis Barr, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Barr of Mansfield, at a noon ceremony Saturday in the sanctuary of St. Peter's Catholic Church at Mansfield, with Rev. James Hoffman officiating.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length bouffant gown of white organza fashioned with a squared Sabrina neckline trimmed with Schiffl embroidery. The tiered skirt swept to a brush train. A full elbow-length veil of French illusion was held by a crown of stiffened Alencon lace and she carried a cascading bouquet of white sweetheart roses and mums. For the traditional something old she carried a family heirloom coin which had been carried by her three sisters at their weddings.

Attending the bride were Miss Ann Gouker, maid of honor, and Miss Kathleen Barr, sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaid. Little Barbara Blake, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

James Barr served his brother as best man. Ushering were Walter S. Plues of Salem, twin brother of the bride, Gregg Swepston and Michael Hollern, both of Co-

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: Take three or four good-sized onions and chop them as you would for stews, chili or a million other dishes.

Place the chopped onions in a plastic bag, twist and clamp with a rubber band to hold it tightly closed and place this in your freezer.

Then when you want chopped onions for one specific dish take out what you need and put the rest back in the freezer. This saves a lot of time, tears and trouble.

LILLIAN PONDREA.

Wonderful. Thanks you doll!

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a "save-a-penny" idea:

When your dishcloth gets thin, simply bleach, wash and dry and then sew two together! These are almost as good as new ones. Makes them nice and thick again.

TEBIE REDDICK.

Wife Seeks Mate Separated From Her on Trip

EAST LIVERPOOL — Despite the best efforts of local officials, a young woman continued on a trip to Van Wert Tuesday afternoon without being reunited with her husband, from whom she became separated while the couple was traveling west on U.S. Route 30 in separate cars.

Mrs. Louise Sinks told police she was concerned for the whereabouts of her husband, Ted, principally because she was carrying all the couple's funds and he was left without money to buy food or gasoline.

She walked into the police station here yesterday morning about 9:30 with her plea for help in locating her husband. It sounded like a simple problem, but more than five hours later the missing man still had not been found.

Mrs. Sinks continued on her way shortly before 2, expecting to stop at every police station and State Highway Patrol post along the route to tell her story in case the husband stopped in search of her.

Mrs. Sinks explained her husband is an ex-serviceman. The couple and their two sons returned to the United States a few weeks ago from France, where he had been stationed several years.

They started to drive from New York City to Van Wert to visit relatives. Then they planned to continue on to Missouri. Mrs. Sinks was driving a small French-made car and her husband was operating an American-made auto of 1956 vintage. Both carry French auto license tags.

Their 15-year-old son was traveling with his father while another son, about 14, was riding with his mother.

All went well until the couple stopped in a gasoline station late Monday night or early Tuesday to refill the tanks. Mrs. Sinks was not positive of the location, but thought vaguely it was "about 26 miles out of Pittsburgh."

Sinks pulled out of the station first. About a half a dozen other cars followed before Mrs. Sinks was able to pull onto the highway to follow her husband. She expected to catch up with him again soon, but never saw him again.

Hoping against hope, she continued driving west on Route 30. Finally, she decided to stop in East Liverpool to seek help in locating her husband.

Police called the Carnegie and Rochester posts of the Pennsylvania State Police. The Carnegie barracks, after an investigation, learned that Sinks' car broke down about 1:30 a.m. in Greensburg, Pa. He pulled onto a used car lot there and made repairs himself, as he is a mechanic. Then he drove away. He could not be traced beyond that point.

Mrs. Sinks headed out of East Liverpool at 2 yesterday, expecting to stop at every police station and patrol post along the way in her search for her husband.

60 Couples At Party of Merry-mates

A tropic scene was the setting as 60 couples of the Merry-mates of St. Paul's parish enjoyed a Hawaiian luau Saturday night in the auditorium of the school.

Entering the auditorium through a thatched hut, members and guests were presented leis and each woman a flower for her hair.

Les Echert and his orchestra played for dancing in a setting of palm trees with a backdrop of starfish studded fish.

A luau scene with life-sized dolls dressed in native costume seated at a low table set with palm spates and native fruits as for a feast, centered the stage. A backdrop of bamboo with sprays of flowers and tropic greenery and miscellaneous arrangements of such items as coconuts, stuffed monkeys and tropical hats under palm trees completed the theme of the evening.

The guest tables edging the dance floor were decorated with brilliantly colored crepe-paper fish nets centered with artificial fish and lighted with candles.

Dr. and Mrs. Leo Mundy were chairmen for the event assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gittleman, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McKeown, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kinnavy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kremer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Whitacre.

Two couples, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Paulin and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crawford, were welcomed into membership.

Guests at the festivities were Rev. J. Richard Gaffney, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mayhew. Special guests of the evening were the retiring officers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zamarelli and Mr. and Mrs. James Gurlea. Mrs. Zamerilli and Mrs. Gurlea were presented corsages from the club by Mrs. E. J. Zilavy, co-president.

Special prizes were won by Mr.

and Mrs. Frank Dauria, Mr. and Mrs. John Schneider and Mr. and Mrs. Florian Waller.

The September party will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Radler, chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dankief, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eakin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eskay, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hermann, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Loutzenhiser and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whinnery.

Notebooks Are Students' Most Important Equipment

By The Reading Laboratory

BEFORE we start talking about the best ways to handle textbooks and tests, there's just one more item we need to cover—the materials you need for effective study.

The notebook is the most important piece of equipment you need as a student. This might sound a little elementary but too many students get into course difficulty because they don't keep the right kind of notebooks, or don't keep them in the right way—or don't keep notebooks at all.

GET YOURSELF A notebook for each course, preferably the kind with the coiled wire binding; they lie flat for easy reading and writing and the pages are easily removable.

Above all, keep the notebook clean. When you take notes in class, take them quickly but take them as neatly as possible—unless you plan to copy them. There's no more pitiable sight than the student who has taken ultra-complete class notes only to find that when it comes time to study he can't read them.

IF YOU'RE A DOODLER (and who isn't?), get into the habit of carrying a doodle book with you. Just get an extra notebook, bring it to class, and if the work that day is such that you don't have to take notes, then doodle in your doodle book. Again, this might sound elementary, but there's nothing more unpleasant than studying from a scribbled-up notebook. Whenever you're seized with an uncontrollable urge to doodle, have your doodle book handy; it'll save a lot of notebooks.

After you buy a notebook, save up some more and invest in a vocabulary notebook. Whenever you run across a new word, write it down. Then once a week you can look up all of the week's new words in the dictionary. And after you look them up, use them. You'll impress all of your friends—and teachers—if you keep a good vocabulary notebook.

REMEMBER A FEW chapters back when we talked about all of the outside reading that you're going to do? Sure you do. You're reading a nonrequired book and one of the better magazines for at least 15 minutes a day. Right?

Well, if you're really enterprising you might also get a notebook for all of the new ideas you're getting from that outside reading.

Finally, if you're in a spending mood, a set of 3x5 flash cards can be a great help for learning foreign language vocabulary. Write down the new word on one side of the card, its English equivalent on the other.

We'll talk more about note-taking later. For now, just remember that a textbook has a lot of pages. If you can start to keep most of what you have to know in notebooks, you can save a lot of reading at the end of each term.

(NEXT: The first thing to do with a textbook.)

Social Security Office Aids 1,226 Benefit Applicants

In addition, the office issued new social security cards to 1,591 people who are just starting to earn social security protection through their work.

Burroughs died at 74.

TARZAN AGAIN

Burroughs' son examines writings.

A typical book jacket from Tarzan series.

TARZAN, that "real swinger" from the jungle, is going to be airborne again. A cache of unpublished manuscripts has been found among the effects of the jungle lord's creator, Edgar Rice Burroughs. Burroughs' son, Hulbert, found the unpublished works in a safe after he took over management of the family corporation in the community named after the jungle lord—Tarzana, Calif. After a preliminary inventory, Hulbert estimated that the safe contained 520 thousand unpublished words of his father and there is a second safe with more manuscripts. The Tarzan books, which have sold nearly 50 million since the original one in 1914, are undergoing a revival for new readers.

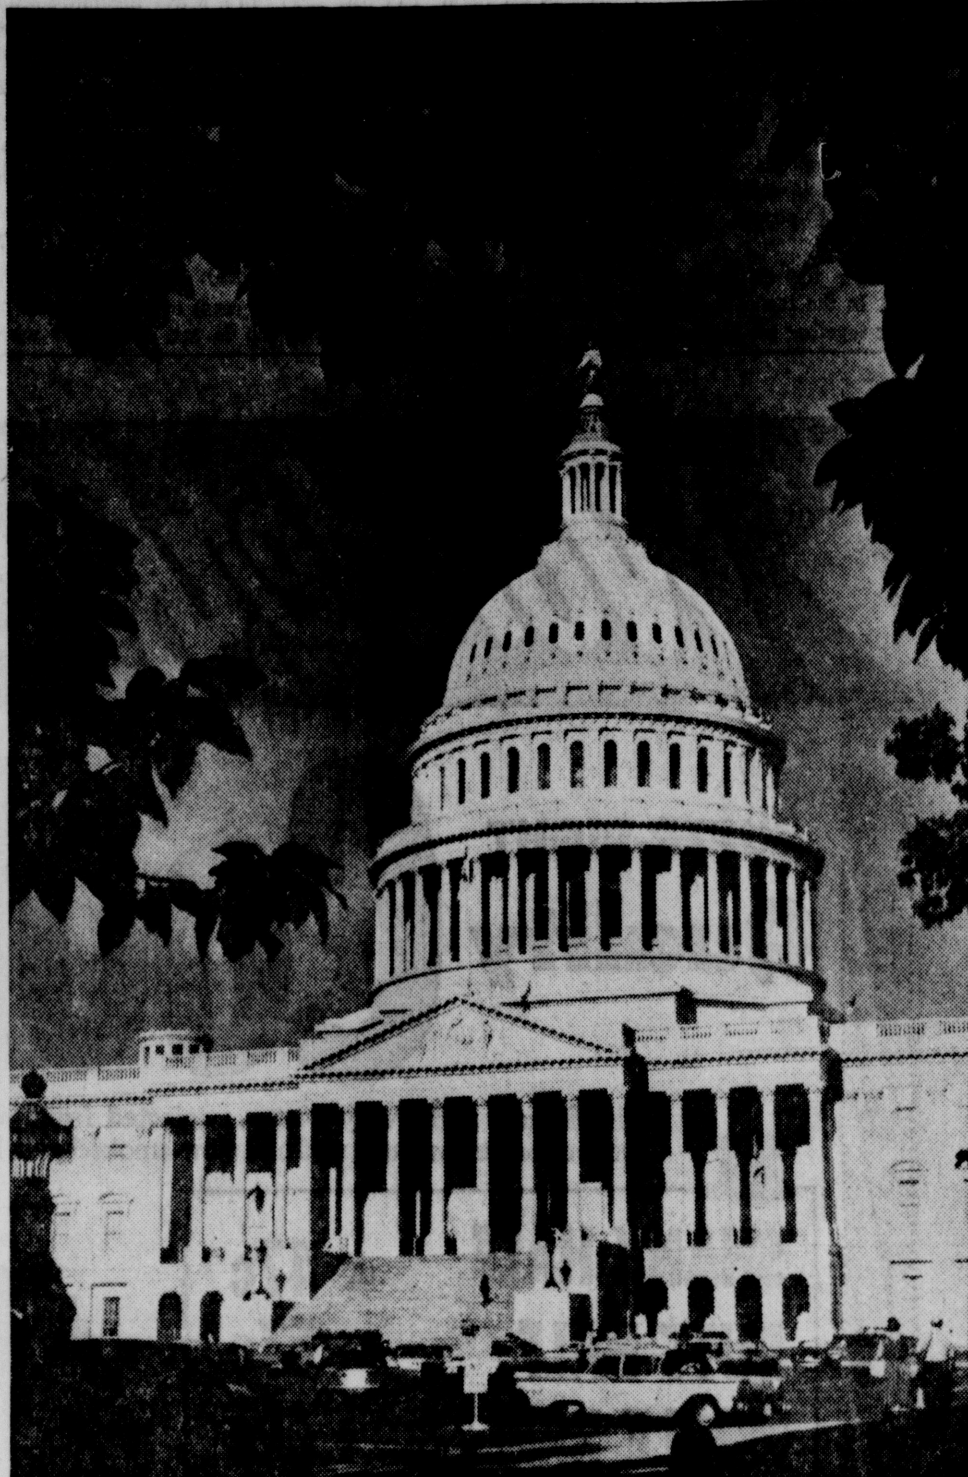

Hulbert, nephew, John, discuss cache.

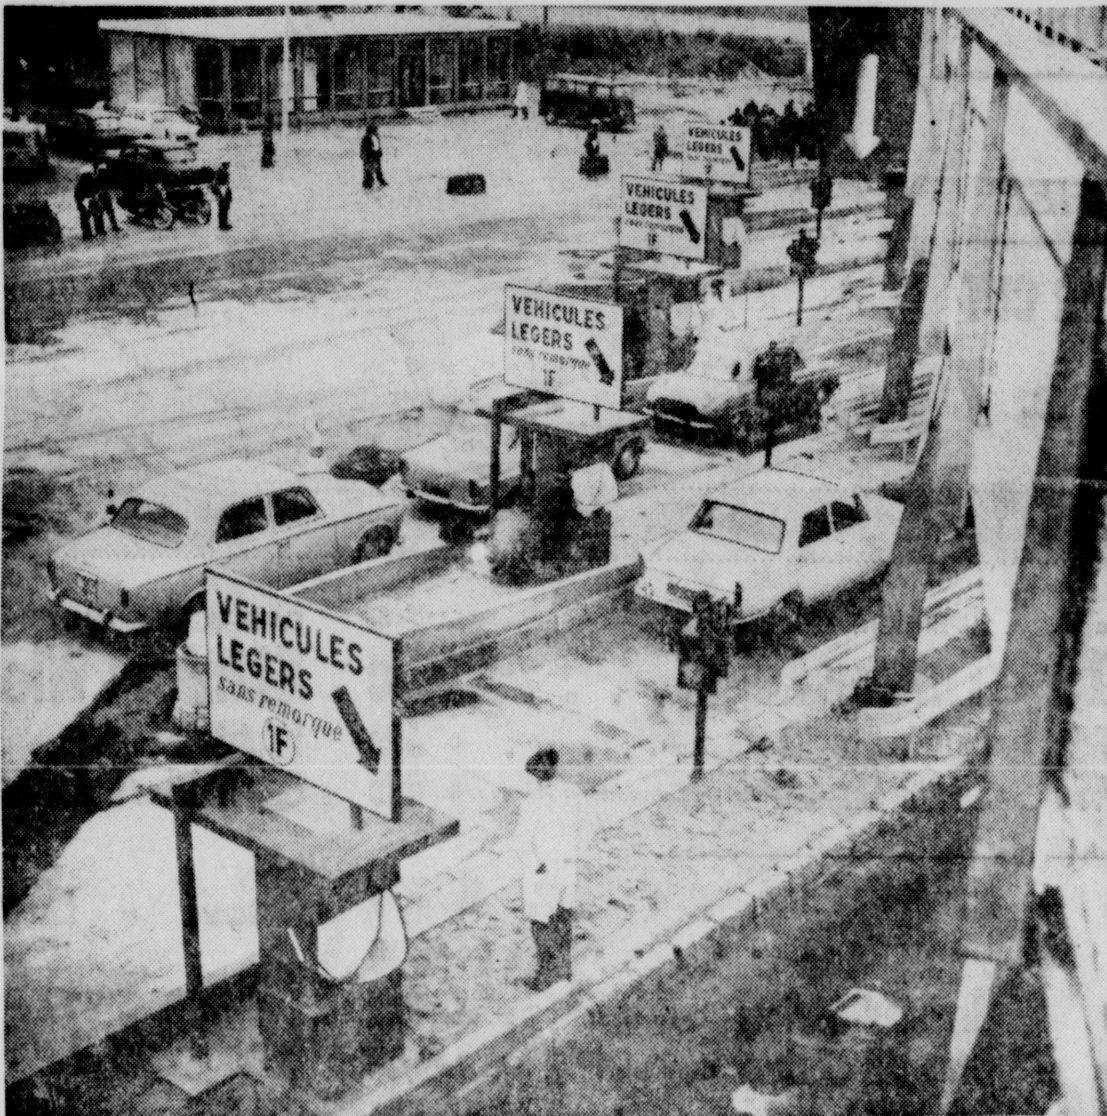

Burroughs, World War II newsman.

NO FLIGHT OF FANCY—Terry Cavaretta, 8, flies through the air with her dad's help at amusement park in Palisades, N.Y. Terry is world's youngest flying trapeze performer.

A CAPITOL IDEA—Drenched in sunlight, the beauty of the Capitol Building is punctuated by silhouette of tree branches in Washington, D.C.

BOOTHS TOLL FOR THEM, TOO—Although it's an established fixture on many U. S. turnpikes, the automatic toll booth is just moving into France. This is the entrance to the new super-highway between Montes and Bonniereres. Driver tosses proper coin into receptacle.

MARCHING ALONG—Paul Bradshaw, victim of arthritis, gets therapy with Dr. Keith Drummore (top) at March of Dimes-supported medical school in University of Minnesota. After three painful years, Paul can play basketball (bottom).

LEARNING THEIR LANDING CRAFT—With a breeze blowing, Blue Jay crew members practice ins and outs of sailing on sailboat simulator in Port Washington, N.Y. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

SHORT SPAN OF INTEREST—This railroad tunnel, which "stretches" out to 46½ feet, claims to be the shortest one in the United States. It's on a railroad line near Westmoreland, Tenn.

Health Questions and Answers

Q—WHAT CAUSES dark discoloration under the eyes? What can be done for this?

A—If other members of your family have the same condition it may be a hereditary tendency to have very thin skin in that region. This would allow the dark, venous blood to show through.

Late hours with not enough sleep is another cause. The condition is often more noticeable to the girl who inspects herself too closely than it is to friends. In any case it is not serious, but, if it bothers you a great deal, you can use cosmetics to hide it.

Q—I am a housewife. What side effects am I likely to get from nandrolone phenpropionate (Durabolin)? My doctor says it is a male hormone and that it will improve my appetite and help me to gain weight.

A—The usual side effects from male hormone are less severe with this drug than with some of the other male hormone preparations. It may, however, cause acne, hoarseness, increase of facial hair, and some menstrual irregularity. These side effects are usually easily controlled by decreasing the dose.

Q—I am over 50 and am troubled with itching ears and eyelids. What causes this and can it be helped?

A—The causes of itching are legion but, when it chiefly involves the ears and eyelids, a common cause is seborrheic dermatitis, a disease that is associated with excessive dandruff and that is vastly improved by controlling the dandruff. This and allergy are the two commonest causes of the kin of itching you have.

Q—I have excessive sweating of the hands. Is there anything I can use to stop this?

A—Sweating of the palms is almost always due to instability of the nervous mechanism that controls the caliber of the blood vessels in the skin. This mechanism makes them dilate in a warm environment to permit increased sweating and contract when the environment is cold. The antiperspirant preparations used in the armpits are of no value for sweating of the hands. Coffee increases nervous tension and should, therefore, be avoided. Propantheline bromide taken by mouth has been used with success by some persons with this condition. Consult your doctor for the amount and frequency of the dose required.

NON-FICTION

THE PEACE CORPS by Charles E. Wingenbach. Background, number and kinds of persons at work and in training and what has been accomplished to date by this organization which is not so new as one might think.

SUBVERSION OF THE INNOCENTS by Dan Kurzman. The author has travelled in more than 60 foreign countries in the past fifteen years as a foreign correspondent. He has also done extensive research on the subject — Communist methods of subversion and infiltration in Africa and Asia, also the Middle East.

MAN IN THE STRUGGLE FOR PEACE by Charles Malik. The former President of the United Nations writes of what he thinks the Western nations ought to do to meet the central challenge of Communism. Like the book listed above, this is worth our thoughtful attention.

A MY VANDERBILT'S NEW COMPLETE BOOK OF ETIQUETTE. A newly revised edition of this useful and competent etiquette guide has been enlarged, updated and improved.

DATING FOR YOUNG CATHOLICS by Mgr. George A. Kelly. Sound advice to young people, most of it would be worth-while for any young person's reading.

THE ADVENTURE OF LANGUAGE by Michael Girsansky. An approach to language that is quite a bit different from that usually used begins with a history of the great language-families of the world, gives a description of what language is, and goes on from there to problems in English.

JOHNSON'S DICTIONARY (a Modern Selection) by E. L. McAdam, Jr. and George Milne. The editors have tried to give the modern reader a good idea of what Samuel Johnson tried to do in his dictionary of the English language, published in 1755. It was the first one worthy of the name and was not excelled for many years after.

LISTEN TO LEADERS IN MEDICINE edited by Albert Love and James Saxon Childers. Seventeen leading medical authorities in the United States tell their own personal experiences and survey the opportunities open to young people in their fields today.

FIELD GEOLOGY by Frederick H. Lahee. The sixth edition of a standard field guide of use to students, teachers and practicing geologists.

A LITTLE BETTER THAN PLUMB by Henry and Janice Holt Giles. The story of their home in Kentucky, how they happened to decide to build it, and much more about their life together. Mrs. Giles normally writes fiction, and she makes the most of the humorous episodes she relates.

OVER 50 — SO WHAT by Hildegarde. This famous entertainer tells from her own experience what one who faces the public constantly must know and do to be successful. Much of it is sensible exercise and health care.

SACRED AND PROFANE BEAUTY by Gerardus van der Leeuw. The author says that he has tried to find paths and boundaries for anyone who says he understands something of the way God speaks through beauty. He discusses the dance, the theatre and pictorial arts.

PICTURE FRAMING by Edward Landon. A new edition of the book first published in 1945. Some of the original illustrations have been changed and one new chapter has been added.

COMPLETE BOOK OF LIGHT OPERA by Mark Lubbock. The light operas are here grouped by the city where they were originally produced—Paris, Vienna, London, New York, and so forth. Some background and history is was done by David Ewen.

A CONCISE HISTORY OF MODERN PAINTING by Herbert Read. The author says that he is here attempting to present a concise account of the movements which together constitute the extremely complex change that has taken place in the art of painting during the past half-century. A Praeger book, this is illustrated by many reproductions in color, many in black-and-white. The author is a well-known teacher and lecturer.

WARM LOOK. Woolen coat with diagonal black and white yellow stripes and high otter collar is among fall and winter creations by Paris designer Lanvin. Coat is work with black otter fur bonnet.

FICTION

THE LAND OF RUMBELOW by Carlos Baker. It was probably inevitable that this novel would receive the wide variety of reviews from very good to very poor, for its author is himself a well-known critic and is also Woodrow Wilson professor of English at Princeton. The story itself is of a man who has been living in his own private inferno and who manages to work his way out of it.

BRIDE OF PENDORRICK by Victoria Holt. They met on an Italian island, he took her to his ancestral castle in Cornwall — but there was a two hundred year old curse on all the brides of this house. A good many threatening things happen and the suspense carries right on through. Still not as good as Mistress of Mellyn.

THE COLLECTOR by John Fowles. A strange story about a very strange young Englishman who kidnaps a beautiful girl and holds her captive in the cellar of an old house. The story is told twice — first by the young man and then by the girl in a diary.

KINSMEN OF THE GRAIL by Dorothy James Roberts. Miss Roberts has gone to an earlier version of the Arthur legend than the Malory for this Round Table narrative. It concerns Gawin and Perceval and Perceval's right to search for the Grail. This is as masterfully done as are her other books.

IF WE MUST DIE by Junius Edwards. A starkly real story of a Negro who tries to register to vote largely because his mother wants him to, and who suffers an extremely brutal beating as well as the loss of his job as the result.

Mysteries: BEST DETECTIVE STORIES OF THE YEAR. The editor has collected what he thinks are the best from the short mystery and suspense stories which have appeared in magazines and collections this year.

DEATH AND CIRCUMSTANCE by Hilary Waugh. Two escaped convicts commit one of the worst crimes ever to occur in Connecticut.

Western: GUNS AT GRAY BUTTE by

Lewis B. Patten. A Western mostly about a girl and her fiancée who goes on a man-hunt for the man who attacked her.

THE SHADOW IN THE BLASS by August Derleth. The first governor of Wisconsin is the subject of this novel, peopled with the near-great of the political world of Wisconsin of a hundred years ago.

A LITTLE BIT OF LOVE by Richard Underwood. A story of American officers on duty in present-day Germany. They are young and one might think eager to make their lives worth-while. But some kind of indifference seems to affect them in every aspect of life.

Mysteries: NO. 9 BELMONT SQUARE by Margaret Erskine. The old house hid secrets from the past and the present, and nearly hid the murderer for good.

GRIEVE FOR THE PAST by Stanton Forbes. A hatchet murder in Kansas during the nineteen thirties.

THE DOUBLY DEAD by E. X. Ferrars. A popular woman is missing — the police are confronted with bizarre clues.

THE DRUM OF UNGARA by Bill Knox. An Englishman tries to prevent more violence in Africa, and the suspense is well maintained.

In Summer, It's Open Sandwiches

TWO COUNTRIES, Denmark and the United States, favor the open sandwich.

In Denmark, open sandwiches are usually served cold. In this country, even in summer, we often put our open sandwiches under the broiler.

It's hard to find a new open-sandwich topping; cooks seem to have thought of every possible combination. But the following recipe is an interesting combination of flavors that we do not remember encountering.

The foods teamed together are definitely compatible. Cooked chicken is moistened with mayonnaise and seasoned with curry powder, then the chicken is given that Waldorf Salad combination—apples and celery—as a partner.

When we tested this sandwich, we tried it two ways: once as a broiled sandwich, and once as a cold spread for crackers. It's hard to say which is better.

NEW OPEN CHICKEN
12 slices toast, 2 cups diced cooked chicken, 1/4 cup (about) mayonnaise or boiled dressing, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1 cup pared and diced apple, 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt. Arrange toast on foil or a baking sheet. Mix chicken, mayonnaise, celery, apple, curry powder and salt. Lightly pile filling over toast. Heat under the broiler. Slice in half and serve 3 halves for each portion.

Yankees Blank Red Sox In Both Ends Of Twin Bill

Bombers Bulge Margin To 12½ Tigers Rip Angels 4-1; A's Roll 2-1

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

They belong to New York pitchers Al Downing, 22, a lefty, and Jim Bouton, 24, a right-hander. Between them they contain the promise of Yankee domination of the American League for years to come.

Sunday, Downing had a no-hitter going for seven innings and finished with a two-hit shutout, running his record to 10-4. It was Bouton's turn Tuesday. He had a no-hitter for eight innings, and finished with a two-hit, 5-0 shutout, running his record to 18-6, best on the Yankee staff.

Terry Chalks Up 15th

Ralph Terry, at 27, old only by comparison, finished off the twin-night doubleheader against Boston with a five-hit, 3-0 job. It was his 15th victory and stretched the Yankees' bulging league lead to 12½ games.

In other AL games, Chicago pulled into a share of second place with idle Minnesota by beating Cleveland 6-1. Kansas City edged Baltimore 2-1 in 10 innings and Detroit topped Los Angeles 4-1 in the only games scheduled.

The twin shutouts by Bouton and Terry were the third and fourth in the Yanks' last five games. The Yankee staff has allowed only two runs in the last 51 innings, both in a 2-1, 12-inning loss to Chicago in the second game of a Sunday doubleheader. Posted Only 7-7 Mark Last Year

Bouton is one of the big surprises. He had only a 7-7 record last season, started this year in the bullpen and has blossomed into the Yanks' No. 1 right-hander.

The hard-throwing youngster had allowed only two base runners and had retired 22 men in order before Boston pinch hitter Russ Nixon singled past his ear leading off the ninth.

Bouton let down a bit after that and Gary Geiger followed with another single, but he got out of it without trouble.

The Yanks gave him all the backing he needed with two first-inning runs on singles by Bobby Richardson and Elton Howard and doubles by Tom Tresh and Hector Lopez.

The White Sox' Dave Nicholson struck out four times, setting a major league season record of 144, but Tom McCraw and Pete Ward each drove in two runs with a homer and single in Chicago's victory over the Indians.

PAULO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—The Cleveland Browns must cut six players from their roster to get down to the league limit of 37 two weeks from today. Coach Blanton Collier admits the job will be tough.

"We're at the point where just about everybody on the squad is capable of playing in the National Football League," Collier said after the Browns held their first practice session of the week Tuesday. "Now we have to decide on the makeup of the squad."

Collier is faced with the job of deciding whether to keep seven receivers—including rookies Tom Hutchinson of Kentucky, the team's first draft choice, and Cliff McNeil of Grambling.

Collier also is pondering these choices: "Can we afford to carry two centers? (John Morrow and Frank Morze) . . . Do we need four offensive tackles? (Dick Schafrath, John Brown, Roger Shoals and Reed Brehovich, in addition to the injured Monte Clark) . . . Can we get by with two defensive ends (Bill Glass and Paul Wiggins) and carry an extra linebacker as a swing man (Jim Houston)?"

Rookie Dennis Biodrowski of Memphis State is being carried as a third defensive end and may be one of those cut.

Football "Open House" Is Scheduled Tonight

Salem fans will get a chance to see how far the varsity football team has come along at the Boosters Club "open house" at Reilly Stadium tonight, with the program scheduled to start at 8. An intra-squad scrimmage, featuring Salem's offensive and defensive units, will spotlight the event. Members of the Senior High band will provide music from the stands, and the VFW drill team will perform.

SLICING THE MELON

Chisox Deal Tribe, Grant 2-1 Setback

CLEVELAND (AP)—A pair of fuzzi-cheeked rookies and the old man of the bullpen—40-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm—were the Chicago White Sox' stars in a 6-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

The rookies are Pete Ward, a hotshot third baseman, and Tom McCraw, a fancy fielding first baseman who is not much of a hitter. Both had three hits—two singles and a home run—and drove in a pair of runs apiece.

The only offensive punch for the Indians came from rookie Max Alvis, who walloped his 18th homer in the sixth inning off starter Joel Horlen. Ward also has 18 homers. McCraw has four.

Wilhelm preserved Horlen's seventh victory in 12 decisions by hurling three hitless innings against the Indians and striking out four. Cleveland batters couldn't connect against his fluttering knuckler.

The victim of the White Sox' hitting was Jim (Mudcat) Grant (10-12), who lost to Chicago for the 16th time in 19 decisions since he came into the league in 1958, and Bob Allen, who hurled the final three innings and was tagged with six hits and four runs.

Russians Not Entered In Tennis Event

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The National Tennis Championships get under way today at the West Side Tennis Club on a note of international mystery.

Everybody is asking: "What happened to the Russians?"

The Soviet Union, with announced designs on the Davis Cup, was supposed to send three or four of its ranking players on the special plane which Tuesday brought 80 stars from 28 countries here for the tournament. The Soviet athletes failed to show.

There were several explanations but one conclusion: The Russians apparently have given up their five-year plan for taking over the No. 1 position in the court sport. Experiences at Wimbledon and Forest Hills must have convinced them that other countries, particularly the United States and Australia, have made such vast strides that they cannot be overtaken on such short notice.

So Soviet tennis players are going back behind the Iron Curtain to get some training before trying to challenge the rest of the tennis world. Players from other Iron Curtain nations—Czechoslovakia and Hungary—are in the international field which begins qualifying rounds today. After two days of qualifying, the championship proper opens Friday, with Chuck McKinley and Margaret Smith, the Wimbledon winners, top-seeded favorites.

Mark My Word

By MARK W. MILLER

Dave Mitchell is one of the many new coaches in the area. He is assisting Al Carino who was named United High head football mentor late last spring.

A 24-year-old former Willard star athlete, Mitchell is a graduate of Defiance College. He will also assist the cage pilot during the 1963-64 campaign.

Last year, he was an assistant in both sports at Cadiz and he got his first coaching experience at Lima South Junior High in charge of the football and track programs.

ETHEL BRICKER of Leetonia rolled a 598 series to defeat Jessie Miller, a professional, in an exhibition match last Friday at Timberlakes; Miller's three game set was 580.

Saturday, John Ehrhart turned the same trick when he knocked off TV pin star Joe Donato in another exhibition.

Miller posted a 199-191-224-614 series. Donato, who has a lifetime 203 average, chalked up a 192-207-601 three game set.

Both local bowlers received $50 savings bonds for beating the pros.

PAUL C. LAU has been elected president of the Elks Double Bowling League for the coming season.

Others voted into office were Robert Shoe, vice president, and Wade Loop, secretary-treasurer. Donald Smith and Ray Bartholow were appointed to the rules committee. The Elks League will begin its season at the Timberlakes, Sept. 4.

A meeting of Elks bowlers to vote on the rules and select teams for the season is scheduled tonight.

HARRY OWEN, who played a shortstop most of the season, was pressed into action as a pitcher in the Class F All-Star contest at Kelley Field recently.

He replaced Bill Rish who was forced to the sidelines with an illness. Eight of the nine outs hurled by Owen were strike outs. He ended his stint with a pitcher to first putout.

DICK HARRIS, formerly of Salem, a golf pro at Minot Country Club, N.D., watched some of his pupils advance to the semifinals in the North Dakota state tournament recently.

He has 76 students he teaches in his junior class, some as young as eight years old.

Labor Day, Harris will be in charge of Minot's big International golf tourney. An entry list of 272 golfers, 70 percent of them from Canada, will compete in the event.

WHEN OHIO STATE University football candidates, 72, report for the initial practice session Sunday, 19 of the returning players will be lettermen.

Coach "Woody" Hayes, launching his 13th year at the helm of the Buckeye will have his biggest rebuilding job since taking over in 1951. Only three regulars are returning from the offensive unit of 1962, a season which saw OSU win six and lose three.

The trio includes Ormonde Ricketts, end; Tom Jenkins, guard; and Paul Warfield, halfback from Warren. The Buckeyes Open their season at home against Texas A. & M., Sept. 28.

Mays Collects 400th Homer As Giants Belt Cards 7-2; Dodgers Edge Cincy

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays has the world on a string, but that hasn't kept the San Francisco Giants from riding a yo-yo in that National League pennant race.

Mays became the 10th major leaguer to reach the 400-homer level when he connected in the third inning Tuesday night, triggering a homer salvo that powered the Giants to a 7-2 victory over St. Louis and into a second-place tie with the Cardinals.

Both the Giants and Cardinals are 6½ games back of pacesetter Los Angeles. The Dodgers, who have had no interruption since July 2, edged Cincinnati 3-2 as Frank Howard slugged a key two-run homer.

Mays has been trying to keep the Giants within striking distance, but the defending champions have been going up-and-down with such regularity that they actually have lost ground while Willie has hit safely in 27 of 28 games.

On July 28, Willie was hitting .274 with 22 homers and 55 runs batted in. Since then he has hit 10 homers, driven in 31 runs and brougt his average up to .308—and the Giants have fallen from 4½ back to 6½ behind.

Aaron Cracks 38th Homer

While Willie was collecting his 32nd homer, Hank Aaron took over the league lead from the Giants' Willie McCovey. Aaron hit his 35th and Warren Spahn posted his 17th victory in Milwaukee's 3-2 decision over Houston.

Elswhere the Chicago Cubs edged Philadelphia 4-3 and Pittsburgh defeated the New York Mets 2-1.

An error by Ken Boyer helped the Giants to a 3-0 lead in the second inning against Curt Simmons, 11-7, before Mays connected leading off the third. Orlando Cepeda followed with his 21st homer and Felipe Alou made it three in a row with his 18th. That was more than enough for Jack Sanford, who scattered eight hits for a 13 1/2 record. Julian Javier's two-run homer accounted for the Cardinals runs.

Howard's Blast Gives LA Lead

Howard's homer, the first for Los Angeles in nine games, gave the Dodgers a 2-1 lead in the second inning. Then, mustering two of their five hits, the weak-hitting Dodgers put across the decisive run in the third on singles by pitcher Pete Richert and Mauri Wills, a wild pitch by Bob Purkev, 6-9, and Wally Moon's grounder. Johnny Edwards homered for the Reds in the fourth but Richert, 2-1, and Ron Perranoski pitched scoreless ball the rest of the way.

Spahn, 17-5 and headed for his 13th 20-victory season, shook off a shaky start and recorded his fifth straight complete game victory behind Aaron's hitting. Aaron tied the score with a two-run homer off Don Nottebart, 8-6, in the fourth, before scoring the tie-breaking run in the ninth when he singled, stole second and came around on singles by Mathews and Joe Torre.

Eagles Give Hopalong Cassidy Release; Stephens Gets Axed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy and Sandy Stephens, All-American players in their college days, have received their walking papers as pros.

Cassidy, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1955 as the top college player while at Ohio State, was placed on waivers by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League as the American pros reached a mandatory cut-down date.

Stephens, All-America quarterback at Minnesota in 1961, was dropped by the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League with the Als paying him for the remainder of his three-year no-cut contract.

"Bluntly, we're paying him off," said Dan Pickett, director of the Alouettes' player development. Stephens signed a $70,000 contract in 1962 and has two years to go. He was unimpressive as a rookie last season and was benched as overweight in the Alouettes third game of the season last week.

Cassidy, 29, a six-year-NFL veteran with Detroit, Cleveland and the Eagles, played 11 games with Philadelphia as a split end last season before he was sidelined with a broken right leg. He has played only a few minutes in Philadelphia exhibitions this season and his release apparently means that Baylor rookie Ronnie Goodwin has won the job.

He was the best known player to get the ax as the NFL and American Football League made cuts the NF teams cutting their rosters to 43, the AFL to 38.

Angie's Pizza Hands Old Dutch 1-0 Setback; Wooster Wins 7-0

An error paved the way in the first inning for the only runs as Akron Angie's Pizza blanked Salem Old Dutch 1-0 in the Invitational Softball Tournament at Kelley Field last night.

In another tilt, Wooster Shearer eliminated Cleveland Republic Steel 7-0.

Tonight's action finds Lorain Old Dutch in a skirmish with Niles Alberini's Restaurant at 7 p.m. and the winner takes on Akron Stile Builders at 8:15 p.m.

Salem, held to one hit, had three mild threats squelched during the contest. A walk to "Buster" Rizzo and a throwing error gave Angie's its run in the first.

From the initial inning on, John Stoffer of Old Dutch and "Roby" Robinson hooked up in a terrific pitchers duel.

Angie's got its only hits (two) in the fourth, when Dean Sterling led off with a double and was out trying to stretch the hit to a triple, and Dick Blair singled.

Old Dutch first threatened in the third, when Bob Stallsmith walked, advanced to second on a sacrifice and reached third on a force out. An easy pop to short ended the inning.

In the fourth, walks to Dick Youngpeter and Bob Carbaugh put runners on first and second with two down. A short to first put out retired the side.

Bruce Feicht led off the sixth for Old Dutch as he hit a single and advanced to second on a sacrifice. Youngpeter was issued a walk and both players reached second and third. A strike out and pop out to the first baseman stopped the rally.

Winning hurler Robinson struck out five and walked four. Losing pitcher John Stoffer fanned four and walked only one batter.

Wooster picked up two runs in the second frame, then added one run in third, fourth and fifth frames, and finished up by scoring two more markers in the sixth.

11 Ohio Golfers Qualify For Des Moines National Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some of the top play-for-fun golfers in Ohio will represent the Buckeye State in the National Amateur Golf Tournament in Des Moines next month.

Ohio's 11 berths in the national classic were filled Tuesday in qualifiers played over the par 71 Madison Country Club course in North Madison near Painesville and the par 70 Camargo Club layout in Cincinnati.

Alex Antonio Jr. of Hubbard, 18-year-old state high school champion, shared medalist honors with Dick Guardiola of Shaker Heights with two-over-par 144s at the Madison qualifier. Roger McManus, 39-year-old veteran of greater Cincinnati golfing battles, took medalist honors at the Camargo qualifier with a two-over-par 144.

Other qualifiers at Madison were Art Hudnutt Jr., 1962 Western Amateur champion, and Walter Stahl Jr. of Cleveland, 1961 Ohio Amateur champion. Both shot 145.

Camargo's other qualifiers were Roger H. Holstein of Columbus with a 144; Tom Weiskopf, this year's Western Amateur champion, 145; Bruce Rotte of the University of Cincinnati, 145; John Owens of Lexington, Ky., 147; Jim Ferrell Jr. of Louisville, Ky., 148, and Edgar Bradley of Cincinnati, who tied with Ellicott Phillips of New Albany, Ind., at 149 but won a playoff on the first extra hole with a birdie three.

Bombers Triumph 7-5 Over All-Star Unit

The Bombers parlayed Scott Crammer's splendid relief pitching with a perfect squeeze to pace the Bombers to a 7-5 win over the All-Stars at Centennial Park Tuesday.

Wally Ward's bunt, which scored Scott Crammer with the breaking run, highlighted the struggle.

Dave Paxson's two-run single gave Bombers a 2-1 lead in first. The All-Stars moved ahead 3-2 on Jim Ciotti's double, but the Bombers moved ahead with two walks and hits by Bentley and Briskin. Three walks and two errors tied the score in the third frame.

Scott Cody and Kenny Kenst did the All-Star pitching. Bob Mackey started for the bombers. The win was Crammer's fourth.

The Bombers face the Leetonia All-Stars at Centennial today at 6 p.m.

Detroit Seeks 6th NABF Title In Row

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Detroit shoots for its sixth straight championship in the National Amateur Baseball Federation's junior tournament tonight, but the Motor City nine must beat Pittsburgh twice to take the title.

Pittsburgh is the only unbeaten team of the original 16 teams entered. Detroit has been beaten once in the double elimination competition and won its way into the championship round by trouncing Girard, Ohio, 6-2 Tuesday night. That eliminated the Ohioans.

If Pittsburgh wins tonight's game, it will own the championship. A loss by Pittsburgh will set up another contest for the title.

Trend-Spotters Eye 'Richard Boone Show'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The new television season seems rather bare of radically different programs, but a couple of new offerings will be watched closely by industry trend-spotters.

One is NBC's "Richard Boone Show," a dramatic anthology series with a novel-for-television idea of using a repertory company of featured players. The other is "Burke's Law," which hopes to combine sophisticated humor with homicide. If it strikes the public's fancy, it could initiate a cycle of shows in the sprightly mood of the old William Powell-Myrna Loy "Thin Man" movies.

In this new series, however, our hero is a clever captain of homicide who also is a handsome millionaire bachelor, absolutely irresistible to women. Gene Barry, late of "Bat Masterson," is the star.

One rumble around the Hollywood studios is that the series, stressing tongue-in-cheek situations and off-beat, way-out characters, could be the hit of the season.

Barry, delighted to be out of the Old West, describes the series as "pure entertainment — just plain fun."

Judy Garland, who has slimmed to worrisome matchstick proportions, is in a Hollywood hospital for what is described as her annual check-up. Her variety series, which lost its producer and writers by executive CBS decision, won't be resumed until mid-September. Only five shows have been taped.

Dear Leroy

I heard you were going to get a new bowling ball at Gordon
Scott Sports, and for the life of me, I don't know why. Gordon has been measuring balls for 12 years and drilling them for 8 years. He drilled 600 balls last season and plugged over a 100 more but that doesn't necessarily mean he knows anything.

He may be a certified instructor, and he may sponsor 4 teams, but I think you should consider brand X — whoever heard of Brunswick or whatever it is.

Don't let his choice of 12
balls, 29 different bags and 13 styles of men's shoes influence you. He probably offered to drill it while you wait and let you charge it. Honestly, Leroy, you are such a sucker.

Now, why don't you tell him you've changed your mind. And oh, while you are there, pick up our bowling shirts and ask him if our trophies are ready.

Teachers At Leetonia Plan Meeting Friday

LEETONIA — A pre-school elementary and secondary guides, meeting for the teachers of the Leetonia school system will be held Friday at Orchard Hill School at which time the teachers will be introduced by Victor Wood, superintendent.

A coffee hour will begin the conclave at 9 a.m., followed by a general meeting at 9:30.

Glenn Rich, director of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education of the Ohio Department of Education will give an address titled "Self-Appraisal in Public Elementary and Secondary School" at 10 a.m.

At 10:45 a.m. there will be

Blast

the rescue teams had not established contact with the trapped men.

Asked if there was any chance the men were alive, Tippie said: "I wouldn't even attempt a guess. I think there's a chance."

He said they had been using dynamite.

More than 30 men were directly involved in the rescue attempt. They were going down one crew of three at a time, with crews rotating every half hour or so.

Tippie said the first crews down encountered gases and intense heat, generated by the blast.

He said an effort would be made to restore the ventilation system before rescuers started the actual job of searching for the missing men. There were hints it might take several days to find them.

The explosion, of undetermined origin, ripped through the mine at 4:50 p.m. Tuesday, catching the men apparently without warning in the two lateral tunnels.

The blast came a little more than an hour after the evening crew had descended to the two tunnels running downward at an angle from the main shaft.

Moab, a town of about 6,000, was stunned by the disaster.

Most of the miners commute the 23 miles from Moab to work. At one time, there were as many as 100 miners at the site. The figure has dropped steadily since the main shaft was completed in late February.

Trapped were employees of Harrison International of Miami, Fla., which was awarded a contract for sinking and underground development of the mine in April of 1961.

The mine is in the Colorado River Canyon, about 250 miles southeast of Salt Lake City. It's about 100 miles from the "Four Corners Area," the point where New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Arizona meet.

Potash, or potassium carbonate, is widely used in the manufacture of chemical fertilizers.

BELOIT — Mrs. Margaret V. Peach, 44, of RD 2, Beloit was dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital at 5 a.m. today. Cause of death was complications following an illness of nearly one year.

Born Nov. 28, 1918 in Norfolk, Va., she was the daughter of Margaret Ann Pritchard Marshall of Norfolk and the late J. W. Marshall. She was a member of the North Georgetown Emmanuel Lutheran Church, George D. North American Legion Auxiliary and North Georgetown Firemen's Auxiliary.

Bova

sure, he has volunteered to return to the scene of his entombment to search for Bova. Dr. H. B. Charnoury, state mines secretary, however said at a news conference that only experts, if anyone, would be allowed down the 18-inch escape shaft to look for Bova.

Charnoury said Fellin was "well ahead of us," and had already drawn maps indicating the location where he thinks Bova may be. Bova was separated from Fellin and Throne by tons of debris.

Gordon Smith, deputy state mines secretary, directing the rescue operations, said he plans to condemn the mine.

WINDOWS BROKEN

James Campbell of the Lape Hotel, who owns a vacant house at 488 E. 8th St., reported to police Tuesday that vandals using stones knocked out nine panes of glass at the home between Saturday and Monday.

Miners

saw a door, just like a regular house door.

"Davey," I yelled, "let's go there."

I crawled as fast as I could toward it but suddenly I found myself bumping into just another piece of timber. That's when I got the bruise under my eye.

I was so frightened, I just went wild. I crawled like mad away from Dave and fell into some kind of hole. For a while—maybe 20 or 30 minutes—we lost contact. Then I found myself yelling loud as I could and the echo came bouncing back at me: "Davey I'm going home I'm going alone if you don't want to come."

And Davey said, "Now, wait, now wait, Hank. We'll go together."

He was trying to steady me down. And as I got a little calmer I said "Davey, how come they're not trying to get us out? How come they're not trying to get us out, Davey?"

And Davey said, "I don't know, Hank. I don't know."

Drank Sulphur Water

For the first two days, we didn't touch the lousy sulphur water. But then we couldn't hold out. At first it tasted bitter but it got better or seemed better.

Hungry? That's the screwy part of it. Although I had only a glass of milk and two cups of coffee before I went into the mine Aug. 13, for some reason I didn't think much about it for the first five days. Maybe I was too concerned about getting out and just concentrating on that.

But suddenly early in the sixth day, suddenly I got so hungry I ate some bark from an old timber. It tasted terrible. Other times we just sucked the water out of the bark.

Heard Louis Call

In the first few days I could tell, looking at my fluorescent watch, what day it was. But down in the dark I got all mixed up about morning and night and finally the days themselves.

On about 3:15 of probably the sixth day—don't ask me if it was a.m. or p.m.—I heard Louis holler out. This was the first and only time we heard him. He yelled, "Davey and Hank, where are you? This is Louis. I got a light. I'll drop it five feet in front of you."

It sounded like it was coming from above. Now, this was real. I'll admit other things were imagined. But this was real. I actually heard Louis. But we couldn't find him or his light. And we never heard him again.

(Editor's note: At this writing, no one has, but drilling continues.

What kept us going down there? I can only guess. It must have been our will power, our strong wish to get out. We prayed two or three times an hour. "Dear Lord, help us get out, help us get out."

I said aloud over and over, "Back in Chamber."

By about the sixth day, I figure now, we were just about where we started when we began looking for a way out. We were now in a chamber about six feet long and six feet wide and almost six feet high on the high side. We kept shoring up the ceiling with timber and as we did the ceiling kept getting lower until on the last day we had only 18 inches between our heads and the roof of the tunnel.

Then suddenly on the sixth day came the miracle. We hadn't heard that first drill coming down. First thing we knew a microphone was dropped down a hole sions will be held in Salem Sept. 10 to 12. Present leaders will continue in that capacity.

It was also voted to divide the general intertroop money per capita and share with the two remaining troops. The rest of the funds will remain with the troops which are dissolving membership.

According to Mrs. Lew Way, two assistant leaders are needed to fill vacancies which were present before the changeover. Interested persons are asked to contact Mrs. Way.

denied and he will be advised to that effect, the board said.

Democrats have charged that Whitehouse cannot continue to serve in the political post because he also holds a civil service job with the state highway department. East Palestine Council is scheduled to meet Tuesday night after a recess since June. Officials said Whitehouse may submit his resignation then.

In other action, the board checked proofs of ballots submitted by the Wellsville Publishing Co., which has the contract for furnishing tickets for the Nov. 5 vote.

Johnson

Coleman supported the President in the 1960 presidential race. Coleman argued that he was anti-Kennedy, too, saying he erred in 1960.

With 1,861 of the state's 1,877 precincts reporting, Johnson had 258,427 votes, highest even given a gubernatorial candidate, to 183,021 for Coleman.

Johnson faces Republican Rubel Phillips Nov. 5 in what may be more than the usual token race in this overwhelmingly Democratic state. An independent also has announced for the general election.

Johnson, son of a former governor, lost three previous races for the nomination, including one to Coleman in the 1955 runoff. He also was beaten in a race for the U.S. Senate before being elected lieutenant governor four years ago.

Gov. Ross Barnett, barred by law from succeeding himself, joined the crowd of cheering Johnson fans at an election party. He said he voted for Johnson.

There was no indication of how the state's estimated 30,000 Negro voters went. However, in a mock election for unregistered Negroes, Colman got 26,721 votes to 949 for Johnson.

Insurance Building To Be Constructed

Construction of a new $9,000 insurance building at the corner of Penn and Columbia Sts. is expected to begin in early September.

A building permit to erect the structure has been issued at city hall to contractor Don Santee of 1777 Merle Rd. Santee will build the one-story, concrete structure, 38 by 30 feet in size, and lease it to American General Life Insurance Co.

General contractor for the job is Donald Hole, 3675 Mount View Dr., Alliance. American General Insurance and American General Insurance Co. now have their offices at the Southeast Plaza.

The group voted to serve dinner Oct. 19 at the Beaver Local Public School to 250-300 persons from the Trade and Labor Council of East Liverpool.

It was announced that the club will assist the Athletic Association in serving a Jefferson-Jackson Day Democratic dinner Sept. 21.

The group decided to buy two plaques to be mounted on the whirlpool and the basketball rebounder.

The club rejected a proposal to purchase jackets for varsity sports squads but will consider it as a future project.

every major line in the country.

Unions Ready to Strike

Five operating unions representing the engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen have said they will strike the moment the railroads put into effect the job-cutting new work rules.

Last month, the carriers agreed to hold off on the new rules for 30 days to give Congress time to act in the dispute.

With time running out, the unions, carriers and the government began taking steps in case Congress could not beat the deadline.

The Post Office Department announced an embargo on all but first class and air mail should the walkout occur.

It said second, third and fourth class mail would not be delivered more than 15 miles from the post office of origin. Air mail would continue on schedule and first class mail would be moved by alternative transportation.

Announce Embargo

The railroads announced an embargo on accepting freight effective at 12:01 a.m. local time Thursday. A spokesman said most lines will stop handling freight before the strike deadline and will cancel passenger trains which would not reach their destination before the walkout is scheduled to begin.

In turning out its legislation Tuesday night by a 90-2 vote the Senate accepted a House plan to limit the legislation to only the two chief issues.

The original Senate resolution called for arbitration on all the other issues, too.

The two senators voting against the measure were Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and John G. Tower, R-Tex.

ers took steps in April to secure federal funds for the proposed $400,000 hospital unit to be built just south of the existing hospital.

Filed Application

Architect Robert Beatty of East Liverpool and Walter A. Hunston of East Palestine, president of the board of county commissioners, filed the application for funds with the Federal Auxiliary Works Program agency in Columbus.

Drawings of the annex were delivered to the agency in May.

Accompanying financial data showed $346,000 of the total was to be used for construction of the building, $34,000 for equipment and $20,000 for architectural fees.

County Levy Approved

County residents last November approved a .07-mill levy for three years to provide funds for operation, repairs and construction of new buildings at the infirmary.

It was estimated that the levy would yield $147,000 annually.

Some of the buildings at the home had been condemned years ago by state health and safety agencies which periodically threatened closure of the home.

and Franklin roads.

In the interests of safety, school bus riders are asked to follow these three basic rules: be ready and waiting off the road until the bus has reached the loading zone; while waiting avoid the dangers of crowding or pushing; and wait until the bus comes to a complete stop before attempting to enter.

As a reminder, all pupils new to Salem should be registered in their respective schools by Friday to assure a good start next Wednesday.

Secondary students are also reminded of the orientation meetings to be held at 1:15 p.m. next Tuesday.

High School Principal Wayne Grinnen and guidance personnel will meet with all tenth graders and new juniors and seniors in the gymnasium.

At the Junior High, Principal Paul Rober and guidance counselors will conduct their session in the auditorium. At this time these students will be given directions for the new year, find the location of their homerooms and classes, and will be given useful information to get started off on the right foot at their new building.

March

demonstration ever had 100,000 participants.

Words of encouragement came from President Kennedy. Although he did not mention the march specifically, he issued a statement saying:

"These recent months, one hundred years after the Emancipation Proclamation, have seen the decisive recognition by the major part of our society that all our citizens are entitled to full membership in the national community."

"The gains of 1963 will never be reversed."

The White House described it as a Labor Day statement but released it far in advance to coincide with the march.

On the eve of the march, Covert repeated, "We have no indication there is going to be any disorder."

But the size of the expected crowd forced special security precautions. The city is using 1,900 policemen, 2,000 National Guardsmen and another 1,000 firemen, police reservists and park policemen for the crowd. In addition, the Pentagon has 4,000 soldiers and Marines in the area for use in case of riotous eruptions and the President orders them to the scene.

The District of Columbia Board of Commissioners banned all sale of alcoholic beverages until 2 a.m. Thursday.

Many organizations sent demonstrators to the march, including churches, labor unions, civil rights groups, university clubs and community organizations. Movie stars and other entertainers joined in. They included Marlon Brando, Lena Horne and Sammy Davis Jr.

Police seemed most concerned about what would happen when the march ended and thousands of tired demonstrators would start for home.

A threat of a rail strike at 12:01 a.m. Thursday hung over the march. It could snarl up departures for hours.
